Bz

1. The oath or declaration is defective. A new oath or declaration in compliance with 37 CFR 1.67(a) identifying this application by application number and filing date is required. See MPEP §§ 602.01 and 602.02.

The oath or declaration is defective because:
The clause regarding "willful false statements ..." required by 37 CFR 1.68 has been omitted.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over CHOI (5,892,575).

Note figures 2 and 6-8. CHOI shows a VCR with pole base assemblies (52) and pole base driving assemblies having a loading gear (70), a linking member (72), and an elastic member (80). The loading gear is fixedly attached to the linking member, and thus reads on the "integral formed" recitation.

CHOI differs in that the elastic member is attached between the the pole bases and the linking member, rather than between the loading gear and linking member.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to configure the system of CHOI to have the elastic member attached to the loading gear. The motivation is as follows: this is an art recognized equivalent that operates in the same manner and produces the same results without any unexpected results.

4. Applicant's arguments filed 11/18/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that the elastic rod of CHOI is not "integrally formed" with the loading gear.

The Examiner does not agree that this is distinguishing. As noted in the rejection, the linking member in CHOI is fixedly attached to the loading gear. This reads on "integrally formed". As further noted in the rejection, it would be obvious to configure the system of CHOI to have the elastic rod attached to the loading gear.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
